From time to time, quantitative values have been rounded up to the nearest reasonable decimal or whole value in order to avoid excessive level of detail. As a result, certain values presented do not add up to total due to the effects of approximation. Exact numbers may be derived from the financial statements of the Group to the extent that the relevant information is reflected therein.

II. RISK FACTORS

The following is a disclosure of certain risk factors that may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds. All of these factors are contingencies which may or may not occur and the Issuer is not in a position to express a view on the likelihood of any such contingency occurring. In addition, factors which are material for the purpose of assessing the risks associated with the Bonds are described below. The Issuer believes that the factors described below represent the principal risks inherent in investing in the Bonds, but the inability of the Issuer to pay interest, principal or other amounts on or in connection with the Bonds may occur for other reasons which may not be considered significant risks by the Issuer based on information currently available to the Issuer or which it may not currently be able to anticipate. Prospective Investors should also read the detailed information set out elsewhere in this Information Document and reach their own views prior to making any investment decision.

Before deciding to purchase/subscribe the Bonds, Investors should carefully review and consider the following risk factors and other information contained in this Information Document. Should one or more of the risks described below materialise, this may have a material adverse effect on the business, prospects, shareholders' equity, net assets, financial position and financial performance of the Issuer or the Group. Moreover, if any of these risks occur, the market value of the Bonds and the likelihood that the Issuer will be in a position to fulfil its payment obligations under the Bonds may decrease, in which case the Bondholders could lose all or part of their investments. Additional risks and uncertainties, which are not currently known to the Issuer or which the Issuer currently believes are immaterial, could likewise impair the business operations of the Issuer and/or the Group and have a material adverse effect on their cash flows, financial performance and financial condition. The order in which the risks are presented does not reflect the likelihood of their occurrence or the magnitude of their potential impact on the cash flows, financial performance and financial condition of the Issuer and/or the Group.

2.1 General business risk factors

General economic situation

The Group's business, financial performance and financial condition may be materially affected by changes in general economic, political and financial market conditions, such as a global or local recession, inflation and/or fluctuations in interest rates. The demand for commercial real estate lease services generally correlate with economic activity, including growth in gross domestic product in Lithuania, where the Group operates. Although the commercial real estate lease services industry is normally considered to be less sensitive to economic cycles than number of other industries, both weak and strong economic activity, presents a challenge for the Group. Periods of recession may have an adverse impact on payment terms and on the demand for services. This may adversely affect the Group's financial performance and financial condition.

In periods of rapid economic growth, the Group may encounter problems in recruiting qualified employees and tends to experience inflation-driven increases in certain of its costs, such as staff costs, that are sensitive to rises in the general price levels. Accordingly, high rates of inflation could increase the Group's costs and have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial performance and its financial condition.

Market risk

The ever changing market situation poses a risk of depreciation of investments because the Company invests in real estate (either directly or through its Subsidiaries), the main risk is fluctuations in the real estate market, which may reduce the rental income of the Company, as well as the liquidity and the value of the assets. The real estate market is directly dependent on the state of the economy. In a contracting economy, rental income generally decreases and unemployment increases. As a result, the Company may find it challenging to collect the projected rental income. An economic downturn may also lead to a decrease in property values. The real estate market may fluctuate due to higher interest rates and limited financing options. This may lead to a decline in buyer activity and an increase in seller activity. A fall in real estate prices and a decrease in liquidity would make it substantially more challenging to sell the assets under management, which may impair the Company's ability to redeem the Bonds.

Inflation

The upcoming years may maintain steady inflation. Relevant expenses of the Group, e. g., investment to equipment, workforce and interest payments for bank loans, are closely related to the general price level. Continued inflation may prevent the Group from changing the prices of its products and/or services respectively to preserve the existing profit margin or may lead to higher losses. Thus, the Group's expenditures would increase considerably due to inflation and the Issuer would have to cover its increased costs from internal resources, unless the Issuer manages to increase its prices. Thus, continued inflation may have a considerable adverse influence on the Issuer's financial situation and business results.

Success of previous, current, and future investment projects

The Group has implemented and may implement in the future investment projects of a large scope. Though the Group and its employees invoke all available information and analytical resources when planning investments, there is no guarantee, that all information on which the investments planned were based was true and exhaustive. The success of the Company's investments depends primarily on the judgement, experience and ability of the top managers and key personnel. Furthermore, there is no guarantee that the investment plans and the investments made will generate anticipated or planned return on investment; there is no guarantee that investment will not cost more than it was anticipated.

Failure of already implemented or anticipated investment projects, where return on investment from these projects is lower than it was expected or prices of such investments are higher than it was planned, may have a significant adverse effect on the Group's activities, its financial situation and business results.

Catastrophic events, terrorist attacks, acts of war, hostilities, riots, civil unrest, pandemic diseases and other unpredictable events

Catastrophic events, terrorist attacks, acts of war or hostilities, riots, civil unrest, pandemic diseases and other similarly unpredictable events, and responses to those events or acts, may reduce the number of workable days and therefore prevent the Group and its employees from being able to provide services to its customers.

In addition, in February 2022, the Russian Federation invaded Ukraine. The military actions affect not only the economy in Ukraine, Russia and Belarus, but also the European Union and global economy. The situation in Ukraine is extremely volatile and inherently uncertain. Currently, considering the ongoing and dynamic nature of the situation, a reliable estimate of the financial and non-financial impact cannot be presently made, although war in Ukraine did not have a significant impact on the Group's operations and results in year 2022 and 2023. Nonetheless, the Group management is continuously assessing the potential impact of key war factors on the Group's strategic goals, cash flows, financial results and continuously monitoring the quality of trade receivables, growth of energy resources prices and inflation growth.

All those events and acts may also create economic and political uncertainties which may have an adverse effect on the economic conditions in such countries or decrease the demand for or increase the costs of the Group's services. Such events and acts are difficult to predict and may also affect employees, including key employees. If the Group's business continuity plans do not fully address such events or cannot be implemented under the circumstances, it may incur losses. Unforeseen events can also lead to lower revenue or additional operating costs, such as fixed employee costs not recovered by revenue due to inability to deliver services, higher insurance premiums and the implementation of redundant back-up systems. Insurance coverage for certain unforeseeable risks may also be unavailable. A materialisation of these risks may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operation or financial condition.

2.2 Group specific risk factors

Termination risk of existing leases

The Company is primarily invested in commercial real estate and thus derives its principal income from the rental of premises. Therefore, the proper execution of lease agreements is very crucial for the Company. In addition, not all leases are long term. Some leases are renewable by mutual agreement of the parties. There is no guarantee that all leases will be renewed beyond their current term. The Company also does not guarantee that the renewal of any lease agreement will result in the same or higher rental payments. A high level of non renewal of leases or failure to negotiate with tenants for at least the same level of rent could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, results of operations and financial condition.

Tenants' Insolvency Risk

Changes in the economic environment, as well as recurring restrictions on business activities due to pandemics, quarantines, etc may put pressure on the financial condition of tenants and on their ability to meet their lease obligations, which could affect the Company's rental income and negatively impact the Company's overall business, results of operations, and financial condition.

A decrease in demand for commercial real estate

Various economic factors (including pandemics, quarantines, etc) may cause a reduction in demand for commercial space. This could adversely affect rental income and negatively impact the Company's business, results of operations and financial condition.

Dependence on the team of top managers and key personnel

Group's business depends on the team of the top managers, responsible for the development, growth of business and appropriate day-to-day activities and key personnel. Therefore, the Group's ability to survive in the competitive environment and to implement its growth strategy is mostly determined by their experience, knowledge, personal relations and other characteristics. The Group's ability to attract and hire highly competent managers also contributes to the Group's success. As the competition for high qualification personnel is strong and constant, it is probable that the Group's managers and main employees can decide to change their jobs and to leave the Group. Loss of such employees or the Group's inability to hire new managing personnel with appropriate knowledge and capabilities or shortage of such people in the market can have a negative effect on the prospects of the Group's business, financial situation and performance.

The Group is also strongly dependent on its executives and other highly qualified and experienced personnel, having knowledge in commercial real estate lease management. Should the Group fail to attract, maintain and motivate these workers, it could lose them to competitors. Additional time and financial recourses would be needed to find and select their replacements which could have an adverse effect on the Group's business, prospects, financial performance and financial position.

The Issuer is a holding company and its ability to serve its payment obligations under the Bonds depends on the receipt of funds from its Subsidiaries

The Issuer's ability to serve its payment obligations under the Bonds depends on the receipt of sufficient funds from its Subsidiaries which in turn depends on the business, financial condition and the financial performance of these Subsidiaries. Furthermore, the transfer of funds from Subsidiaries may be or become subject to legal and contractual restrictions entered into by the Subsidiaries. The realization of any of these risks could have a material adverse effect on the Group's cash flows, financial condition and financial performance.

Competition risk

The Group faces competition from number of different market players in many spheres of its activities in every geographic region and business segment including competition for clients and employees. In each of the markets and business segments, the Group competes primarily based on its service range, pricing, established client relationships, technical knowledge and the efficient handling of service contracts. If the Group is unable to continue to provide its services to existing clients, to develop new services portfolios and to attract new clients, to respond to client trends, to increase its operating efficiency and to reduce its operating and overhead costs, it may not be able to successfully compete in the relevant markets. Should the Group fail to maintain its market position in the relevant markets and business segments, this could have a material adverse effect on the net assets, financial position and financial performance of the Group.

The Group entities are exposed to liability against clients

The Group entities get an access to a number of premises leased to customers with all equipment, personal belongings and other assets located inside those premises under commercial real estate management contracts and as service provider the Group assumes civil liability for the damage to the customers' property, operations, as well as to the persons that may be present in the facilities. Subject to negotiations with the customers, to limited extent the Group restricts its liability contractually. In addition, the Group has taken out civil liability insurance to protect itself against risks in an amount it believes is appropriate. However, there is no guarantee that the Group will be able to obtain corresponding coverage on acceptable terms in the future or that the insurance will provide sufficient coverage for all potential claims. If sufficient insurance coverage is not in place in any individual case, or the cover amount is insufficient for a claim asserted against the Group, this could have a material adverse effect on the net assets, financial performance and financial position of the Group.

Reputation may be affected by adverse publicity in relation to the Group and its services

The public interest in the commercial real estate services and, concurrently, the publicity of the service is increasingly growing. Moreover, the commercial real estate management business inherently includes solving of utility problems many of which are beyond the Group's control and dealing with a wide circle of price-sensitive private individuals. Therefore, by nature many major events including accidents, breakdowns, emergencies and also price changes in commercial real estate management are periodically followed and, in many cases, inadequately reflected in the local mass media. If the latter occurs, the adverse publicity and disputes may impose additional costs for defending these disputes and harm the Group's reputation, which could thereby have adverse effect on the Group's financial performance and its financial position.

Acquisition and integration of acquired companies

In the past, the Group has acquired businesses in order to expand its operations, for example, UAB "Kauno anūkėlis" shares bought in year 2021. The Group intends to continue to acquire businesses in a targeted manner in the future. In this regard, there is no guarantee that the Group will be able to identify suitable businesses and to acquire them on favourable terms. Moreover, the Group cannot guarantee that it will be able in the future to generate sufficient funds to finance envisaged corporate acquisitions. There is also a risk that not all material risks in connection with the acquisition of a company will be identified in the due diligence process and will not be or could not be sufficiently taken into account in the decision on the acquisition and in the purchase agreement. These risks could materialize only after a company has been acquired and may not be covered by the warranties in the purchase agreement or by insurance policies.

The integration of newly acquired businesses is always associated with considerable uncertainties and risks and, among other things, requires the ability to integrate the newly acquired companies into the Group and to retain, or quickly replace, a sufficient number of qualified management staff and other key personnel. In the past, a number of businesses have been successfully integrated into the Group. There is no guarantee, however, that the integration process will also be successful with potential future acquisitions. Moreover, with regards to corporate acquisitions the Group may not be able to realize planned savings, synergies and/or growth potentials. The businesses acquired or the joint ventures could also turn out to be less profitable than expected. As a result, depreciations on the assets of the businesses acquired or an impairment of goodwill reported in connection with the acquisition could be necessary. Each of the aforementioned factors could have a material adverse effect on the net assets, financial position and financial performance of the Group.

Dependence on IT and cyber security risks

The Group is dependent on an efficient and uninterrupted operation of its information and communication systems. Information and communication systems are generally prone to failures, damage, power outages, computer viruses, fire and similar events. A failure or interruption in the operation of these systems can therefore not be ruled out. Failures or interruptions in the operation of the computer and data processing systems used by the Group could result in loss of business and/or cause reputational damage to the Group. This could have a material adverse effect on the net assets, financial position and financial performance of the Group.

In addition, the Group companies are managing the data with customer data used for invoicing and internal financial information. Therefore, the Group is subject to cyber-attacks and viruses, which could lead to private data leak. This could have a material adverse effect on the net assets, financial position and financial performance of the Group.

Operational and safety risks

Provision of real estate management services involves risks, such as equipment defects, malfunctions and failures and natural disasters, which could potentially result in releases of hazardous materials, injury or death of employees and others or a need to shut down or reduce operation of facilities while remedial actions are undertaken. These risks expose the Group to potential liability for environmental damages, personal injury, loss of life, business interruption and property damage or destruction. While the Group always seeks to minimize exposure to such risks through comprehensive training and compliance programs, as well as vehicle and equipment maintenance programs, if the Group was to incur substantial liabilities in excess of any applicable insurance, the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition could be adversely affected.

Interest rate risk

Currently major part of the Group's and the Company's borrowings are bonds, which are subject to fixed interest rates which create no interest rate risk. The remaining financial debt (real estate loans and other obligations) are subject to variable rates, related to EURIBOR rates, which create interest rate risk. This exposes the Group to a risk that borrowing costs might increase in the event that the relevant benchmark market interest rates rise. Adverse interest rate fluctuations, if not hedged, may negatively impact the Group's financial performance and its financial position.

Counterparty risk

Counterparty risk is inherent to all business activities the Group is engaged in. Counterparty risk may result in financial losses (including, but not limited to, revenues not being received from customers, funds deposited at banks, partners in long term projects failing to perform their obligations etc.) to the Group. Default of a Group counterparty may affect the completion of the Group's commenced investment projects, the quality of services provided by the Group or harm the Group's reputation. Although, the Group monitors and manages its counterparty risk, the occurrence of any of the mentioned counterparty risks may have an adverse impact on the Group's business and financial position.

Real estate liquidity risk

Real estate can be potentially illiquid because of its characteristics. This may affect the Issuer's ability to modify its real estate portfolio or to dispose of its holdings promptly and (or) at a desired price. If it were suddenly necessary to dispose of a property under management, there is no guarantee that market conditions would be favourable. If the Company fails to secure the desired price for the disposal, it could have a material adverse effect on its financial position and limit its ability to pay Bondholders properly.

Real estate renovation risk

The Issuer also invests in real estate renovation. Such investments are generally riskier than investments in completed properties as they do not yet generate operating income (e.g. rent). At the same time, significant costs are incurred, including construction and renovation costs, real estate taxes and insurance. Real estate renovation also poses the potential risk of that these projects may take a very long time to complete or may incur higher than expected costs. In addition, there is the potential for significant losses due to the inability of third parties (contractors) to complete the renovation works successfully. This may have a significant negative impact on the Company's financial position and may limit its ability to pay Bondholders properly.

Technical Risk

Although the Company invests in the upkeep and maintenance of its existing assets, problems may arise about the technical characteristics of the managed assets, such as construction defects, other hidden defects or contamination. Remedying these problems may require significant investments, thus adversely affecting the Issuer's financial position and cash flows.

2.3 Risk factors related to the Bonds

The Bonds may be not as suitable investment for all investors

Each potential Investor in the Bonds must determine the suitability of that investment in light of its own circumstances. In particular, each potential Investor should:

- have sufficient knowledge and experience to make a meaningful evaluation of the Bonds, the merits and risks of investing in the Bonds and the information contained in this Information Document;
- have access to, and knowledge of, appropriate analytical tools to evaluate, in the context of its particular financial situation, an investment in the Bonds and the impact such investment will have on its overall investment portfolio;
- have sufficient financial resources and liquidity to bear all of the risks of an investment in the Bonds;
- understand thoroughly the terms of the Bonds; and
- be able to evaluate (either alone or with the help of a financial adviser) possible scenarios for economic, interest rate and other factors that may affect its investment and its ability to bear the applicable risks.

A potential Investor should not invest in the Bonds unless it has the expertise (either alone or with the help of a financial adviser) to evaluate how the Bonds will perform under changing conditions, the resulting effects on the value of such Bonds and the impact this investment will have on the potential investor's overall investment portfolio.

Credit risk

Credit risk should be evaluated as a possibility that the Issuer might become insolvent, go bankrupt, its business being suspended or terminated, and as a result, it would be impossible to redeem the Bonds and/or pay the accrued interest to the Bondholders. Moreover, should the Issuer become insolvent, legal protection proceedings or out-of-court legal protection proceedings of the Issuer are initiated during the term of the Bonds, an investor may forfeit interest payable on, and the principal amount of, the Bonds in whole or in part. An investor is always solely responsible for the economic consequences of its investment decisions. The Bonds constitute direct, unsecured, but guaranteed obligations of the Issuer, ranking pari passu without any preference among each other and with all unsecured, and unsubordinated indebtedness of the Issuer. In addition to that the state guarantee (insurance) is not applicable in case of investments into the Bonds.

In addition, even if the likelihood that the Issuer will be in a position to fully perform all obligations under the Bonds when they fall due actually has not decreased, market participants could nevertheless be of that opinion. Market participants may in particular be of such opinion if market participants' assessment of the creditworthiness of corporate debtors in general or debtors operating in the industries sector adversely change. If any of these risks occur, the third parties would only be willing to purchase Bonds for a lower price than before the materialisation of said risk. The market value of the Bonds may therefore decrease.

Interest rate risk

If interest rates in general or particularly with regard to obligations of corporate debtors or corporate debtors with activities in the industries sector for durations equal to the remaining term of the Bonds increase, the market value of the Bonds may decrease. The longer the remaining term of a debt instrument, the stronger is its market value affected by changes of the interest rate level. There are further factors which may affect the market value of the Bonds, including, but not limited to global or national economic factors and crises in the global or national financial or corporate sector. Bondholders should be aware that movements of the market interest rate can adversely affect the market price of the Bonds and can lead to losses for the Bondholders if they sell their Bonds.

Inflation risk

The inflation risk is the risk of future money depreciation. The real yield from an investment is reduced by inflation. The higher the rate of inflation, the lower the real yield on the Bonds. If the inflation rate is equal to or higher than the nominal yield, the real yield is zero or even negative.

An active secondary market for the Bonds may not develop

The Bonds constitute a new issue of securities by the Issuer. Prior to Admission to trading on First North, which is an alternative market in Lithuania, there is no public market for the Bonds and other securities of the Issuer. Although application(s) will be made for the Bonds to be admitted to trading on First North, there is no assurance that such application(s) will be accepted, and the Bonds will be admitted to trading. In addition, Admission to trading the Bonds on an alternative market will not guarantee that a liquid public market for the Bonds will develop or, if such market develops, that it will be maintained, and neither the Issuer, nor the Arranger is under any obligation to maintain such market. If an active market for the Bonds does not develop or is not maintained, it may result in a material decline in the market price of the Bonds, and the liquidity of the Bonds may be adversely affected. In addition, the liquidity and the market price of the Bonds can be expected to vary with changes in market and economic conditions, the financial condition and the prospects of the Issuer, as well as many other factors that generally influence the market price for securities. Accordingly, due to such factors the Bonds may trade at a discount to the price at which the Bondholders purchased/subscribed the Bonds. Therefore, investors may be not able to sell their Bonds at all or at a price that will provide them with a yield comparable to similar financial instruments that are traded on a developed and functioning secondary market. Further, if additional and competing financial instruments are introduced on the markets, this may also result in a material decline in the market price and value of the Bonds.

Amendments to the Bonds bind all Bondholders

The Law on Protection of Interests of Bondholders requires and the terms of the Bonds contain provisions for calling Bondholders' Meetings to consider matters affecting their interests generally. These provisions permit defined majorities to bind all Bondholders including Bondholders who did not attend and vote at the relevant Bondholders' Meetings and Bondholders who voted in a manner contrary to the majority. This may incur financial losses, among other things, to all Bondholders, including such Bondholders who did not attend and vote at the relevant Bondholders' Meetings and Bondholders who voted in a manner contrary to the majority.

Taxation of Bonds

Potential purchasers/subscribers and sellers of the Bonds should be aware that they may be required to pay taxes or other documentary charges or duties in accordance with the laws and practices of the country where the Bonds are transferred or other jurisdictions. In some jurisdictions, no official statements of the tax authorities or court decisions may be available for financial instruments such as the Bonds. Potential investors are advised to ask for their tax advisers' advice on their individual taxation with respect to the acquisition, sale and redemption of the Bonds. Only these advisors are in a position to duly consider the specific situation of the potential investor.

Transaction costs/charges

When the Bonds are purchased/subscribed or sold, several types of incidental costs (including transaction fees and commissions) are incurred in addition to the purchase/issue or sale price of the Bonds. To the extent that additional – domestic or foreign – parties are involved in the execution of an order, including but not limited to domestic dealers or brokers in foreign markets, Bondholders may also be charged for the brokerage fees, commissions and other fees and expenses of such parties (third party costs). These incidental costs may significantly reduce or eliminate any profit from holding the Bonds.

Refinancing risk

The Issuer may be required to refinance certain or all of its outstanding debt, including the Bonds. The Issuer's ability to successfully refinance its debt is dependent on the conditions of the debt capital markets and its financial condition at such time. Even if the debt capital markets improve, the Issuer's access to financing sources at a particular time may not be available on favourable terms, or at all. The Issuer's inability to refinance its debt obligations on favourable terms, or at all, could have a negative impact on the Group's operations, financial condition, earnings and on the Bondholders' recovery under the Bonds.

The Bonds contain several covenants governing the Issuer's operations and generally do not limit its ability to merge, effect asset sales or otherwise effect significant transactions that may have a material adverse effect on the Bonds and the Bondholders

The Bonds contain several provisions designed to protect the Bondholders from a reduction in the creditworthiness of the Issuer. In particular, the terms of the Bonds do not, except for the Events of Default conditions, restrict the Issuer's ability to increase or decrease its share capital, to enter into a merger, asset sale or other significant transaction that could materially alter its existence, jurisdiction of organization or regulatory regime and/or its composition and business. In addition, generally none of the covenants, which the Company undertakes to follow guarantees that the creditworthiness of the Issuer will not be reduced. Therefore, in the event that the Issuer enters into any of the above transactions, Bondholders could be materially adversely affected.

Bonds are unsecured

No one other than the Issuer obliges to redeem the Bonds. There are neither guarantees nor warranties assuming or securing liability for the Issuer's performance of its obligations under the Bonds. Therefore, if the Issuer becomes insolvent, the Bondholders will not have access to supplementary measures to secure the performance of their liabilities In the event of the insolvency of the Issuer or any of its controlled entities, their assets will be used primarily to satisfy the claims of those creditors whose claims are secured by the property and (or) mortgages of the Issuer and its controlled entities Therefore, there is a risk that in such an event, the assets of the Company may not be sufficient to pay the Bondholders.

3.3 Business Description

Principal activities of the Issuer

The Issuer is a steadily growing holding company, which controls 9 (nine) directly owned Subsidiaries, as indicated in Table 1 (the "Group"). Its journey started in 2002 by buying, renovating, and renting residential apartments in Vilnius and Kaunas. As the capital base grew, the operations have successfully transitioned into commercial real estate, and the Issuer was established in 2012.

Since the establishment, the Issuer has been purchasing strategically well-located properties with long-term tenants already in place or renovating and leasing the space out after acquiring the real estate. The Issuer strives to grow sustainably over time, its clients are their long-term partners. The Group aims to manage and help create productive industrial environments and inspiring urban spaces for everyone to thrive.

The Group is primarily focused on acquiring real estate for lease. The Issuer is constantly growing their cash flow from operations by acquiring new properties and incrementally renovating existing ones. Also, practically all lease contracts are CPI (consumer price index, available at <https://osp.stat.gov.lt/en>) indexed.

The Group is not doing ground-up developments or major renovation projects, but continuously renovating its properties. The Group tries to minimise the risks of development and construction and work mostly on the management and investment part of real estate. The Group is carefully selecting real estate properties to invest in and maximising the value of them while owning it. The Group tries to find well-located properties that already have a good starting yield, and work on incrementally increasing it over time with small renovations, good management and optimising tenant mix. Renovations usually are focused on increasing buildings sustainability (heating systems, solar panels, new windows, air-conditioning units, rooftops, LED lighting) or its visual appeal (exterior cosmetic renovation, interior design, lighting, cleaning, flowers). The Group uses every opportunity to minimise the environmental impact of its managed buildings and general activities. In recent years, main areas of renovation have been done:

- Installation of solar panels: 7 (seven) out of 9 (nine) buildings now have fully operational solar panels with a total capacity of 306 KW, which currently meets 60% of the Groups' electricity needs;

- Upgrading lighting fixtures: most of the Group's owned spaces now use LED lighting to conserve energy;
- Renovating heating systems: the Group is upgrading heating units to ensure more efficient heating systems;
- Enhancing air conditioning units: new, more efficient air conditioning units have been installed;
- Sustainable transport: since 2022, the main company car of the Group is an electric vehicle;
- Paperless operations: main office activities of the Group are practically paperless.

However, the Group avoids ground-up development and has no investments in residential real estate. As of the end of the year 2023, the Group owns 9 (nine) real estate properties via its Subsidiaries:

In April 2024, 3 (three) new Subsidiaries were established, with the purpose of transferring 3 real estate properties from the Issuer as mentioned above. Those Subsidiaries are UAB "Kanto AG", UAB "Laisvės AG" and UAB "Šančiai AG". The main activities of the Subsidiaries UAB "Frymanis," UAB "Bravorenta," and UAB "Kauno anūkėlis" remained unchanged in 2023. UAB "Global Business Solutions LT" did not operate its main activities in 2022, but acquired a real estate property and increased its capital in 2023. New companies UAB "Taikos AG" and UAB "Gargždai AG" were established in 2023, both owning and renting out real estate.

The Group has extensive experience in managing many small tenants, as from 2016 to 2019 the Issuer has created and managed a co-working project Happspace™. It united a community of over 350 specialists located in three different co-working spaces with a total area of 2800 sq.m. In May 2019, the Happspace™ project was successfully sold to the international coworking space network Workland.

In addition to this, the Group's goal is to achieve consistent investment returns through rental income growth and appreciation of property values over the long term. The Issuer always keeps a significant portion of its equity capital in more liquid investments, such as stocks, bonds, and exchange traded funds (the "ETFs"). This ensures that the Group always has plenty of liquidity at hand. It also adds another diverse source of income and allows the Issuer to take advantage of market opportunities (for more information please see Section Securities portfolio of the Issuer below).
